Gival Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 102 pages. Dimensions: 8.0in. x 5.2in. x 0.4in. Winner of the Gival Press Poetry Award Some of us live at a slant, the poet Yvette Neisser Moreno writes in Grip and then proceeds to show us how, in language soothing and startling, both. The poems are a slow plea for the beating of human hearts, whether among the conflicts and struggles of the Middle East or within a single family or a single one of us wrestling with her grief. These are poems of great humanity. Read them for their crystalline truths and for the joy they find in our difficult hearts. --Sarah Browning, director of Split This Rock and author of Whiskey in the Garden of Eden From the horrors of the Holocaust to the grace of pli, from the pyramids of Egypt to her fathers passing, Yvette Neisser Morenos noble voice in Grip explores the arc out of thinking between a dawn that trembles with faint prayers and death like a fluidity of grain. Neisser Morenos yearning for comprehension and her pristine sensitivity grip the reader from the start. In her delicate poems she reminds us that strength rises from understanding and that poetry, at its core, is always a way to untwist language from dreams. Enter the stillness before snow, the compelling landscape of this extraordinary collection. --Clifford Bernier, judge and author of The Silent Art Yvette Neisser Morenos poems shimmer in that mysterious space between rib and spine, body and sky, farewell and departure. This is where she seeks equilibrium. She brings the same discipline and elegance to her poems as she does to dance and calligraphy. --Barbara Goldberg With quiet precision and evocative narratives that take us from lovely Hussein smoking a sheesha after losing his sight to an inner...
