Salem Grove Press. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 258 pages. Dimensions: 8.9in. x 5.9in. x 0.6in. Nearly two centuries after his death, Thomas Jefferson continues to be the subject of competing claims about his public policy and his private beliefs. In Getting Jefferson Right: Fact Checking Claims about Our Third President, two religious conservatives examines key claims frequently made by other religious conservatives about Thomas Jefferson. Using Jeffersons correspondence, accounts of Jeffersons contemporaries, and other original sources, Throckmorton and Coulter separate fact from fiction. The authors examine the following questions and more. -Did Jefferson sign his presidential documents, In the year of our Lord Christ -Did Jefferson and other Founders finance a Bible in 1798 to get the Word of God to Americas Families -Did Jefferson found the Virginia Bible Society -Was Jefferson an orthodox Christian, who only rarely expressed questions about orthodox Christian doctrine -Did Jefferson approve laws providing federal funds to evangelize Indians -Did Jefferson edit the Gospels of the New Testament to remove sections he disagreed with -Did Virginia law keep Jefferson from freeing his slaves The aim of the authors is to get Jefferson right. Praise for Getting Jefferson Right: Getting Jefferson Right is an intellectual and historical take down of David Bartons pseudo-history of Thomas Jefferson by two Christian professors who teach at a conservative Christian college. Michael Coulter and Warren Throckmorton have done their homework. Anyone who reads this book must come to grips with the untruths and suspect historical interpretations that Barton regularly peddles in his books, speaking engagements, and on his radio program. I have yet to read a more thorough refutation of Bartons claims. --John Fea, Chair of the History Department, Messiah College and author of Was America Founded as a Christian Nation: A Historical Introduction I cannot overemphasize the importance of...
